

Canada Recovery Sickness Benefit (CRSB)

CRSB extends to May 7, 2022

The CRSB is extending until May 7, 2022. The maximum number of weeks you can apply for also increases to 6 weeks. You can apply retroactively for periods 61 to 63 until February 16, 2022 if you are eligible.

The Canada Recovery Sickness Benefit (CRSB) gives income support to employed and self-employed individuals who are unable to work because they are sick or need to self-isolate due to COVID-19, or have an underlying health condition that puts them at greater risk of getting COVID-19. The CRSB is administered by the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA).

If you are eligible for the CRSB, you can receive $500 ($450 after taxes withheld) for a 1-week period.

If your situation continues, you will need to apply again. You may apply for up to a total of 6 weeks between September 27, 2020 and May 7, 2022.

Sections

- Who can apply
Eligibility criteria for the CRSB
- How much you can get
Payment amounts for each period
- Weeks you can apply for
How periods work, when each period starts and ends
- How to apply
When and how to apply for the CRSB
- Keep getting your payments
When to re-apply, when to expect your payment
- Impact on your taxes
How the CRSB is taxed and what you need to do at tax time
- Return a payment
How to return or repay the CRSB
- Contact us about CRSB
If you have questions about the CRSB

Related Information

- Questions and answers about the Canada Recovery Benefits